

National Refrigerants, Inc. Refrigerant Banking Program

Guidelines:

INITIAL DEPOSITS

An initial deposit of 1,000 pounds of refrigerant is required to open an account. This can be comprised of different types of refrigerant.

Refrigerant must meet NRI's Recovered Refrigerant Acceptance Specifications. (see reverse side)

FUTURE DEPOSITS

After the initial deposit of 1,000 pounds, subsequent deposits are accepted at a minimum of 500 pounds per deposit.

- △ Deposits of low pressure refrigerants are accepted in 100 pound drums and larger.
- △ Deposits of high pressure refrigerants are accepted in 125 pound cylinders and larger.
- △ CYLINDERS LESS THAN 125 LBS. ARE NOT ELIGIBLE FOR BANKING.

MINIMUM BALANCE

If, during the course of any month, an account balance falls below a total of 1,000 pounds, NRI may purchase the balance of refrigerants as outlined below.

CHARGES

NRI will invoice for the processing of the total weight of acceptable refrigerant that can be reclaimed to ARI 700 Specifications plus any handling / disposal fees. (see reverse side). Storage fees on balance will be billed monthly. A nominal charge for disposable cylinders and drums is charged at time of withdrawal.

STORAGE

The net amount of refrigerant reclaimed is credited to a refrigerant bank account. A monthly storage fee applies starting the first full month after the refrigerant is received.

WITHDRAWAL

A faxed, written or emailed authorization is required for the withdrawal of refrigerant from the bank. Upon receipt of the withdrawal authorization at NRI, product will be made available as soon as reasonably possible for pick up or shipment. Customer will be responsible for freight on all shipments less than 1,000 pounds.

REPORTS

A banking report and invoice will be issued to customers monthly.

NRI PURCHASE

If, at a later date, customer does not require the banked refrigerant, NRI may purchase same at a mutually agreed upon price.
